EWB Project: Les Anglais, Haiti
The town of Les Anglais, Haiti is home to more than 10,000 people, none of whom have regular access to safe drinking water. The town's 24-year old distribution system is in dire need of repairs and is contaminated at nearly all points. Illness associate with contaminated drinking water is widespread. To address these critical conditions, EWB Portland had teamed with Our Saviors Lutheran Church of Lake Oswego and the community of Les Anglais to undertake a long-term program of infrastructure improvements. Carolyn Shapiro will talk about the team's efforts to date and their plans for a detailed site assessment in November.
EWB Project: Bua, Ecuador
The community of Bua, Ecuador is comprised of about 700 of the remaining 2,000 members of the Tsachila people, an indigenous Ecuadorian population. The Abraham Calazacon School in Bua serves approximately 250 students, but has limited water supply and sanitation facilities. The EWB Portland Professionals have teamed with the Yanapuma Foundation, an NGO in Quito, Ecuador, to construct a bank of composting toilets and to address additional water supply needs. The team has just returned from implementing the project. Kathy Grantz will present on the project need, results, and future phases of our participation with the school.
